PASTOR'S CORNER

Have you ever heard of the Humanity Movement? In 2018, after finding himself constantly on social media, Andrew Laubacher decided to give up social media and go back to using a flip phone. Six years later, he helps lead a movement dedicated to encouraging others to break their own tech addictions. He was not happy with how all the platforms were just becoming so all-consuming, and he felt that God was calling him to change. As a result, he has experienced many "amazing things" in regards to his relationships, his mental health, and his spiritual health. It started when Luabacher met Hope and Justin Schneir, who had a similar mindset about tech and founded Humanity, a movement dedicated to "helping people discover freedom through an intentional relationship with technology." Laubacher is now executive director of Humanity and works alongside the Schneirs who have established the "Unplugged Scholarship" at Franciscan University of Steubenville, which awards students with funding for agreeing to give up their phones for a year.

Laubacher notes the great increase in anxiety and depression, loneliness, and widespread addiction to pornography happening in the United States, which has coincided with the launch of the iPhone and social media platforms. Self-harm and suicide, especially among teenage girls, have been correlated with the use of Snapchat, Instagram, TikTok and Facebook. "Humanity really is the solution," Laubacher explains. "We're a movement that's trying to cultivate more human interaction, and what we're calling 'human flourishing.'" Laubacher points out that many young people want to move toward a more unplugged lifestyle, but they are afraid to do it alone. This situation applies to many adults as well. Our Catholic tradition has promoted fasting as a very valuable spiritual practice, often associated with Lent. However, fasting can be applied to many other areas of life as well. It is a deliberate "giving up" of what might be considered a good thing in itself, but can turn into a bad, and sometimes sinful, habit that has become inordinate. Disciplining oneself is necessary. Not unlike the need for people addicted to alcohol to abstain completely from drinking, so too, with other addictions, abstinence from technology may be the only way to a more healthy and peaceful lifestyle. Portions of this piece have come from the article, The Humanity Movement: 'Creating new rituals to use technology 'with intention,' Catholic News Service, June 9, 2024 by Kate Quinones. God bless you!

PARISH STEWARDSHIP

Weekly Parish Offertory Budget	$15,385
Offertory collected on 9/15	$ 6,227
Online giving 9/15	5,839
Total for 9/15	$12,066
Clergy Trust 9/15	$ 4,443

Thank you! We are a generous people and our God is a generous God.

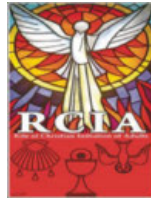

WEEKLY PARISH OFFERTORY BUDGET - has increased by just over $3,000. The budget figure we have been providing in the bulletin had not been changed in over a year. Still, operating costs have increased over time. Our Parish Finance Council and I have noted that $15,385 more accurately reflects the average amount needed to fund the day-to-day expenses incurred for the operation of our parish. We hope that providing you with a more representative figure of the actual costs will prompt parishioners to review the amount they contribute weekly/monthly, especially if they have not increased their giving in quite some time. Over the past few years we have had to use some of the proceeds of our Grand Annual collection and savings to help pay for these operational expenses. However, the actual purpose of the Grand Annual collection is to fund larger extraordinary maintenance, upgrades, replacements and repair costs for the church, parish center, rectory, and grounds. Thank you for your anticipated generosity to help us reach this new budget figure.
-Fr. Bob
